

Device Commissioning

There are a few important things to consider when adding new devices to a scheme, or setting up a completely new one. To make sure Nodes or sensors are integrated successfully, we offer a Device Commissioning service, which might take away the headache a little. Regardless of the age of your scheme, we have the know-how to help you get up and running:

- Integration of initial scheme set-up: Our team of experts will set-up your new system and commission all assets, to ensure your system is fully operational from the off.
- Integration with existing scheme: If your scheme is established and you simply want to add more devices to it, we can help. Even if this means operating a manual update or setting up additional devices, we have you covered.
